

Brian Peart

Married with two children both of whom work in the educational sector one as a research scientist at Munich University and the other as a teacher at an international school in Astana.

My early career was in the North East working for private industry and local authorities as an accountant/auditor moving on to more general management .I moved to the North West 25 years ago to take up a post with Greater Manchester Police where I was responsible for Finance, HR and Administration on one/two police divisions. I subsequently moved on to the Waste Disposal Authority where again I was responsible for HR, IT, Administration and Communications(internal and external)

In conjunction with this practical experience I have undertaken various academic courses the highest of which was an M.Sc. in Business studies from Salford University

As I am now retired my spare time is taken up by trips to Northumberland, travel( to visit my granddaughter especially),walking and being a season ticket holder watching Newcastle United
